Since 1955, the Rocky Mountain Mineral Law Foundation has published an entire library of books in conjunction with its Annual and Special Institutes. These original, scholarly, and practical articles dealing with all aspects of natural resources law, 130,000+ pages of text written from 1955-2015, are now available electronically.

For a very reasonable price, you can have immediate access to this comprehensive collection, constituting one of the most powerful natural resources legal databases ever complied. More than 2,100 articles in 217 books and manuals written by experts for the Foundation are available on both the Internet and on CD-ROM. This unique body of information is instantly at your fingertips, easily searchable, quicker than pulling a volume from your bookshelf. Supplementation is yearly.

INTERNET

The RMMLF Digital Library on the INTERNET is very affordable for single or multiple users. The price is $295/year for a single user, plus $100/year for each additional user. We also offer IP subscriptions for $495/year, which allows unlimited access by everyone in your company, law firm, or agency around the world. This program works best with Internet Explorer. Annual subscribers have no limits on “cut and paste” features or printing. All Annual Institute articles from 1990 through 2015 can be printed in original PDF format. Additionally, 24-hour one-time usage may be purchased for $50, although there are limitations on the number of articles that can be printed, and “cutting and pasting” is not allowed.

There are no license fees, making this library very affordable for single users or an entire company, firm, or agency on a network. Most commercial publishers price their CD-ROMs at or above the cost of the hard copy; well over $40,000 for these Foundation publications. However, we have priced this Library at a 95% discount off the cost of hard copy. When you purchase the RMMLF Digital Library on CD-ROM, it is yours forever. There are no expiration dates on the disk, and you keep it even if you cancel your subscription. The entire library can also be downloaded to hard drives of individual computers.

The price of the disc is $975 for members; $1,375 for non-members; or $475 for a law school member. Yearly updates have been less than $300.
