

Submission of Articles for Consideration for Publication in the Rocky Mountain Mineral Law Foundation Journal

The Rocky Mountain Mineral Law Foundation Journal is published twice a year. The Journal's Editorial Board meets in the spring and fall of each year to consider articles for publication. To submit an article for consideration, please provide the following information:

- Author Information: Author's name; company or firm affiliation and title; and contact information, including email address.
- Manuscript: An electronic version of the article in MS Word.
- Disclosure Information (if applicable): Any involvement of the author, or anyone in the author's company or firm, in litigation or legislation discussed in an article must be disclosed. Such involvement must also be noted in the footnotes to the article.
