Whether you are a new lawyer, landman, or other new professional working in mining, oil and gas, renewables, or other area of natural resources law, a basic familiarity with the laws and issues surrounding cross-border natural resource transactions will benefit your practice. This 90-minute video-linked CLE program, preceded or followed by a hosted networking event, will allow new professionals to learn the basics of the laws and regulations governing cross-border natural resource transactions, and provide an opportunity to meet and network with your peers—all without extensive time and travel.
The ongoing trend of globalization has made international mergers and acquisitions increasingly commonplace, with cross-border transactions in the resource sector becoming prevalent. While this has created new opportunities, these transactions present unique legal issues such as mineral tenure, title confirmation, transferability of operating permits and authorizations, environmental liabilities, community and indigenous rights, foreign ownership of assets, and securities laws. It is vital for both purchasers and sellers to understand the differences in the legal landscapes between jurisdictions to adequately assess the requirements and risks of completing such a transaction.

This program will provide an introduction to key legal issues and pitfalls that can arise when completing any cross-border transaction, and will use the increasingly common Canada-U.S. cross-border mining M&A transactions as an example.

An Introduction and Framework for Cross-Border Natural Resource Transactions
MATT LANGFORD, Corporate Counsel, Silver Standard Resources, Vancouver, BC

Example 1:
Legal Issues in Mining M&A Transactions in Canada
A brief discussion of the mining industry in Canada and an overview of the common legal issues that arise in M&A transactions in the mining industry. In particular, the focus will be on certain differences between the legal landscape in Canada and the U.S. that can cause unwanted delays or risks. The issues discussed will include those related to mineral tenure, environmental liabilities, community and First Nations, foreign ownership, and securities laws in Canada. SAMUEL LI, Associate, Fasken Martineau DuMoulin LLP, Vancouver, BC

Example 2:
U.S. Legal Issues in U.S.-Canada Cross-Border Mining M&A Transactions
An overview of the common U.S. legal issues that arise in cross-border M&A transactions. The presentation will address the timing and cost implications of the title confirmation process for U.S. real property assets, the U.S. permitting regime, and permit transfer processes. The discussion will include restrictions on foreign ownership of U.S. mineral interests, and national security and antitrust reviews for cross-border transactions. The presentation will include a brief discussion of a few key securities and tax considerations for cross-border transactions. WELLS S. PARKER, Partner, Dorsey & Whitney LLP, Salt Lake City, UT

Complimentary refreshments will be served at the local networking events.

Course Materials will be provided electronically before the start of the Workshop. Ninety minutes of CLE credit has been applied for.
Speaker Biographies

MATT LANGFORD is Corporate Counsel with Silver Standard Resources in Vancouver, British Columbia, a Canadian-based precious metals producer with three wholly-owned and operated mines and a portfolio of projects in North and South America. Prior to joining Silver Standard, Matthew was an attorney at McMillan LLP in the firm’s Toronto and Vancouver offices, practicing in the Corporate Commercial and Securities & Public Markets Groups, with a focus on mergers and acquisitions, public and private corporate financings, reorganizations and corporate governance matters. He obtained his LL.B. from the University of Western Ontario, and his B. Comm. from Queen’s University.

SAMUEL LI is a senior associate with Fasken Martineau LLP at its Vancouver, British Columbia office. He is a part of the firm’s Securities and Technologies Practice Group with a focus on public securities in the mining sector. Samuel advises clients on a variety of transactions including mergers and acquisitions, public and private corporate financings, including Canadian and cross-border public offerings, takeover bids and reorganizations, and has acted as Canadian counsel on a number of cross-border M&A transactions. He also assists listed companies with the various reporting and continuous disclosure obligations required by applicable securities regulators and stock exchanges. Samuel received his JD from the University of Toronto, and graduated with honors in Accounting from the Sauder School of Business at the University of British Columbia. Samuel is licensed to practice law in the Province of British Columbia.

WELLS S. PARKER is a partner in Dorsey & Whitney LLP’s Salt Lake City, Utah office, where he practices in the firm’s Mining and Natural Resources Practice Group, focusing on natural resources development, energy, and environmental law. His practice includes transactions involving the purchase and sale of public and private mining companies and mining assets, and he represents mining companies in capital-raising projects, mine finance, and royalty and mineral streaming transactions. He represents clients on mining and mineral leases, joint venture agreements, surface use agreements, state and federal permitting, and regulatory approvals. Wells is an active member of the Rocky Mountain Mineral Law Foundation. Wells has served as an instructor for several of the Foundation’s Mining Law Short Courses, and presented and published papers at Foundation Special Institutes on Public Land Law, Regulation and Management in 2014, on Horizontal Oil & Gas Development in 2012, and on Due Diligence in Mining and Oil & Gas Transactions in 2010. Wells earned his JD from Brigham Young University and a BA from the University of Utah.
